

THE LARGEST VOCABULARY IN U.S. PRESIDENTS

"Presidents ranked by the unique words they use words used in their speeches" fig1: We compare the Total Vocabulary per speech for each president

Key Insights:

- Initially, presidents delivered speeches in written messages, but President Warren Harding was the first president to be heard on radio, therefore, the number of words per speech reduces drastically
- President William Taft had the longest Speeches
- President Lyndon B Johnson had the least Vocabulary per speech
- President Millard Fillmore had the most diversified Vocabulary

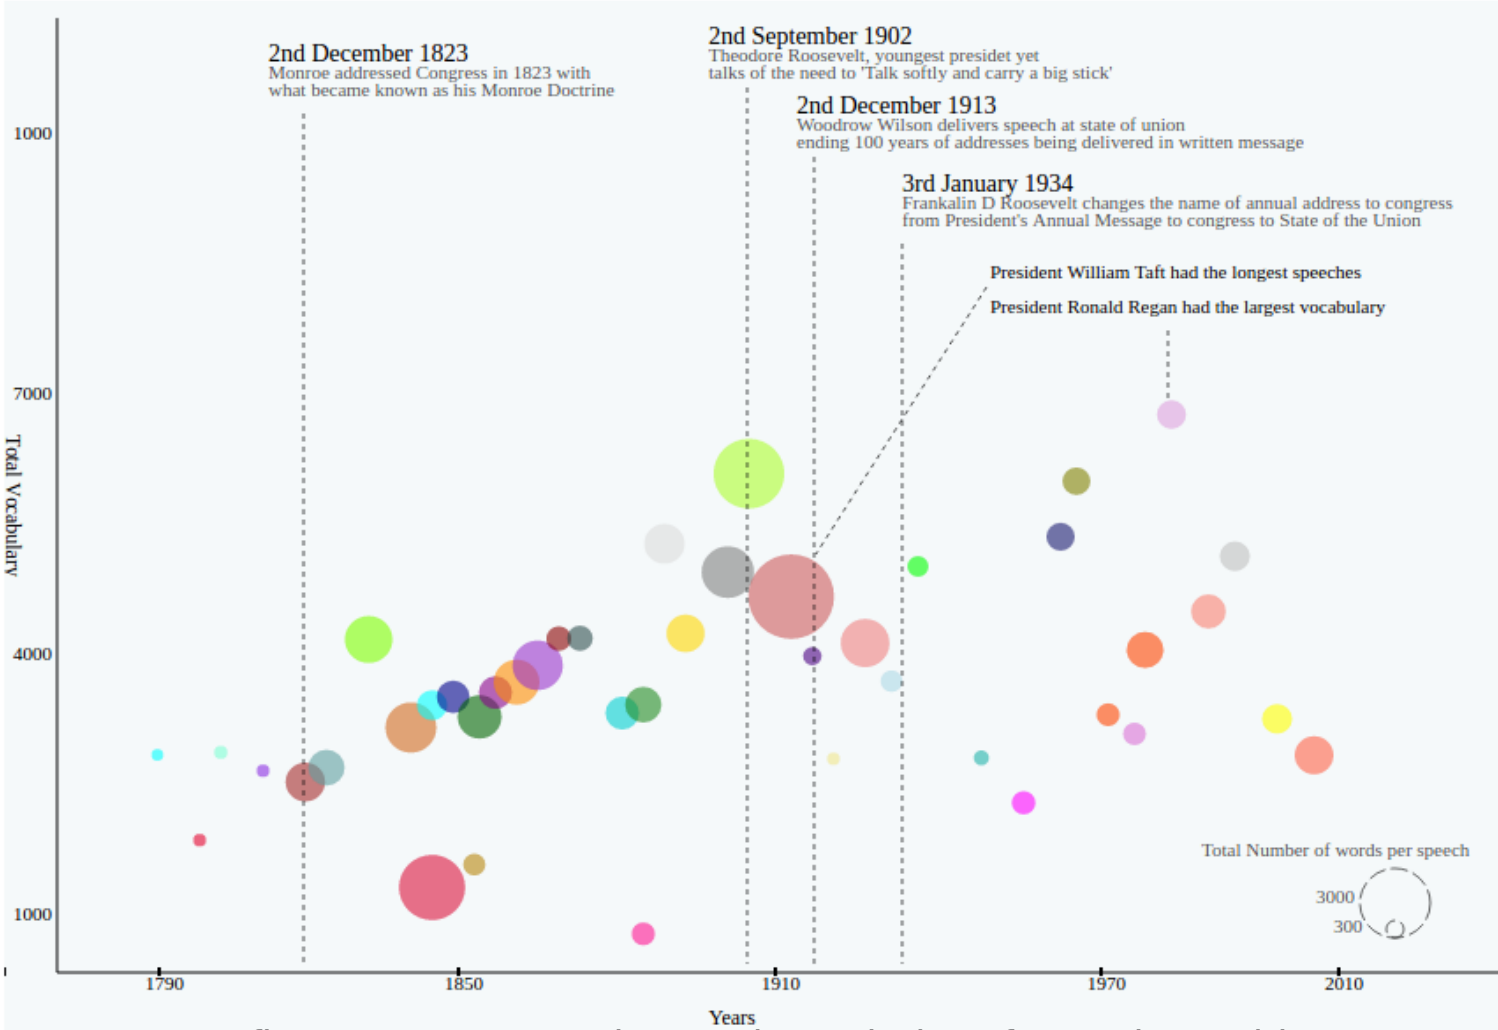

fig2: We compare the Total Vocabulary for each president